

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an image forming apparatus for forming an image, a process indication indicating an execution of a process is received from a requesting part; and the process
5 is executed in accordance with a process instruction description specified by a instruction description identification indicated by the process instruction.